

MD HOM PART I TERM I (MODEL) EXAMINATION
July 2022

Advanced Teaching of Fundamentals of Homoeopathy

Time: Three hours

maximum: 100 marks

Answer All Questions

I. Long Essay

(2X 20=40)

1. Mrs. T. 31 years old, female suffered with eruptions, with blackish discoloration of skin in right palm, with itching and burning aggravation after washing. After thorough case taking and repertorisation, Sulphur 0/3 7 doses were prescribed, for seven days in morning. After taking the medicine patient told that I had never experienced such a type of pain in left shoulder.

What is the observation according to Hahnemann?

How will you manage such a cases?

2. A 14-year-old boy is brought with history of poor scholastic performance, poor social interaction with family & peers and hyperactive behavior. Clinically he has large ears, a prominent jaw and testicular volume of 36 cc bilaterally. IQ testing score = 75.

- Explain the mode of case approach
- Most probable diagnosis & differential diagnosis with reason?
- Relevant Diagnostic tests required?
- Homoeopathic perspective of managing the case.

II. Write notes on:

(6 X 10=60)

1. Limitations of Homoeopathy
2. A 7-year-old boy weighing 20 Kg, recently diagnosed to have Type 1 DM. How will you manage the case Homeopathically with the support of insulin therapy?
3. Hahnemann's classification of Acute diseases.
4. Importance of Clinical investigation in Homoeopathy
5. Temperaments in Prescribing
6. Role of Sulphur & Pulsatilla during pregnancy.
7. Differentiate Monkey Pox & Chicken Pox
8. Basis of selection of Potency.
9. Observation after the administration of Remedy
10. Construction of Kent's Repertory.